The pool area faces you as you enter the chalet. Generously proportioned and equipped with "endless pool" swim jet systems, the pools are the perfect place to relax. Family and friends will enjoy great moments together in this specially designed area, complete with its own hammam.

Home cinema

Sink into one of the deep sofas with its soft cushions, tea in hand, and enjoy the delights of the big screen. Equipped with a PlayStation, an extensive video library, DVDs and access to multiple TV channels, the home cinema has everything necessary for an evening's entertainment.

Ski-room

The leather seating in this luxurious little haven were hand made-to-measure by a local craftsman. The ski room is the anti-chamber to the magic of the mountains in all their white splendour !

Snow is always abundant in Val d'Isère. Posed at the foot of the glacier that feeds the Isère river, and protected by the Daille gorges, it opens on to a majestic natural panorama. Its mountains, the Solaise and the Face de Belvedere, have been made famous by the exploits of some of the greatest sporting champions.

Here, skiing reigns supreme. With a ski area that comprises 300 kms of slopes between 1,850m and 3,000m altitude, a snow park, and extensive recreational facilities, Val d'Isère offers something for everyone, whatever their preferred activity or level of proficiency. Restaurants, bars and clubs provide relaxation and animation both on the slopes and in the resort.

The heart of the village exudes genuine Savoyard charm, with cobbled streets, stone-built houses, traditional slate roofs, and an old church steeple giving it unique character.
